

The Associated General Contractors of St. Louis and Tartton Corporation recently presented a $40,000 donation to the Construction Careers Center (CCC) in honor of the 100th birthday of I.E. Millstone, founder of Millstone Construction Co. (now Millstone Bangert Inc.).

Millstone (pictured in the middle) presented the check along with (left to right) AGC Board Chairman Paul Shaughnessy, CCC student Garland Patton, Bob Millstone of K & M Investors and Robert P. Elsperman, chairman, Tartton Corporation. At Mr. Millstone's request, the school will use the funds to provide incentives for achieving academic success. CCC is a fully-accredited, four year charter high school founded by the AGC and St. Louis Public Schools to prepare students for employment and leadership roles in the St. Louis construction industry.
